Twice as much joy, and twice as many sumptuous showers filled with delicious desserts and enough presents to fill a small moving van. Their whimsical and extravagant nursery is filled with dozens of custom-made touches. There's even a men only shower just for the proud papa-to-be.

3. Tara and Andrew

This chic couple are feted with a pair of exquisite showers: a cocktail party with a Moroccan-themed backdrop; and a luxurious garden party with a truly platinum floral budget and a decadent dessert display. The baby is showered with presents from Gucci, and Dolce & Gabbana; while Mom and Dad have baby planners to make sure everything goes just as it should.

4. Betsy and Brad

Brad can't say no to his beautiful wife Betsy and her dream of an elegant tea party comes true with dozens of friends and family looking on. Their extravagance continues in the selection of the ultra-modern birthing suite where their daughter is born, where they employ the baby-proofer to the stars.

5. Tatyanna and Michele

This is baby number two for this eco-friendly couple. What's good for the planet is more expensive but it's a cost they are more than willing to bear. The dining room of a trendy downtown hotel is the scene for a distinctively delicious Asian-inspired meal featuring the world-renowned chef cooking exclusively for the guests.

6. Dana and Tal

Hip downtown parents Dana and Tal have immaculate taste, from Jonathan Adler décor to Madison Avenue's finest French baby couture. The coterie to help them prepare for the birth of their first child includes baby planners, yoga teachers, acupuncturists, aromatherapists and doulas. They even moved the walls of their cozy lower east side apartment to make room for their darling daughter.
