

off the fence.

Rock The Park (Series 1)

26 x 30'

EPISODIC BREAKDOWN

1. Katmai: Where the Bears Are

Hosts Jack Steward and Colton Smith get up close and personal with the massive brown bears of Katmai National Park in Alaska, home to the largest population of brown bears on the planet. The guys watch bears fish for salmon and dig for clams along the Pacific Coast and camp out in the back country surrounded by bears.

2. Glacier Bay: White Thunder

Jack and Colton experience the awesome power of Mother Nature in Alaska as they kayak with whales and sea otters through Glacier Bay National Park, witness glaciers crashing into the sea and trek to get up close to a mammoth Glacier.

3. North Cascades: Life on the Edge

Going off the beaten path takes on new meaning for Jack and Colton in the “American Alps” in North Cascades National Park in Washington, as they’re pushed to the limit and forced to overcome fears in a quest to make the climb of their lives.

4. Olympic: Obstacles and Animals

Mountain goats, marmots and spotted owls are just a few of the creatures that Jack and Colton meet face to face as they journey through Olympic National Park in Washington. From rainforest to rocky coast to the magnificent mountains, the guys discover why Olympic is really three parks in one.

5. Katmai: Journey to the Volcano

Jack and Colton trudge through miles upon miles of volcanic ash and forge a treacherous river in search of one of the most powerful volcanoes on earth. Oh, and they are on constant alert for browns bears too.

6. Voyageurs: Living Off the Land

Jack and Colton head into the northland of their home state of Minnesota to live like the Voyageurs did centuries ago. If they don't gather it or catch it, they don't eat as they paddle their way across these awesome interconnected lakes.

7. Glacier National Park: Rocky Mountain High

Jack and Colton prepare for a possible encounter with grizzly bears as they head high into the Rockies and across the continental divide on their first back-packing adventure in Glacier National Park.

8. Glacier National Park: Bears, Big Horns and Glaciers

The guys have a run-in with a bear and a showdown with big horn sheep as they hit the trails and the epic Going-to-the-Sun Road of Glacier National Park.

9. Shenandoah: Climbing Virginia Rocks

Jack and Colton take on Old Rag, one of the most dangerous trails in Shenandoah National Park, then belay each other 110-foot straight up a rock cliff.

10. Mammoth Cave: All About the Bats

The guys creep and crawl for miles through the underground of Mammoth Cave National Park, and help researchers capture wild bats to track a deadly disease.

11. Zion: Red Rock Canyons High and Narrow

Jack and Colton trek miles through an icy cold river, then hold on for dear life while climbing one of Zion National Park's scariest trails.

12. Bryce Canyon: Horses, Hoodoos and Mud Water

Jack and Colton saddle up and check out the land of hoodoos, then go back country camping... ultra-light with no tent. It's just them and the creatures of the canyon floor.

13. Yellowstone National Park: Hot Spots and Wildlife

The guys learn about the supervolcano that lies deep beneath the park and check out the hot spots it creates. Then they track the park's elusive wolves and other awesome wildlife.

14. Yellowstone: Old Park, New Views

Jack and Colton experience the power of the Yellowstone River at its own Grand Canyon, towering waterfalls, and white water rapids.

15. Sequoia: In the Land of Giants

Jack and Colton trek through the land of giants in Sequoia National Park. Then it's a face-off with fear as they take on a 150-foot climb straight up a sheer granite rock wall.

16. Death Valley: Destination Desert

Jack and Colton head to Death Valley National Park in search of one of the most scarce resources in the park... water.

17. Joshua Tree: The Climber's Paradise

It's a rocky ride for Colton and Jack as they explore the Chasm of Doom and climb The Eye of the Cyclops in Joshua Tree National Park.

18. Haleakala: In the House of the Sun

Colton and Jack are on the island of Maui checking out Haleakala National Park. They're flying high and riding low while exploring the house of the sun.

19. Hawai'i Volcanoes: Trekking Mauna Loa

Jack and Colton are taking on Mauna Loa, the largest volcano on Earth, battling altitude sickness and the threat of severe weather along the way.

20. Everglades: Slough Slogging and Sea Kayaking

Colton and Jack are slogging their way through the sloughs of Everglades National Park. Then it's a marathon kayak adventure out to one of the remote keys in the gulf coast.

21. Pictured Rocks: Sleds and Snow Beds

The guys face off with Mother Nature in Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, spending a cold winter in a snow trench before taking on a 70-foot wall of ice for a climb like none they've done before.

22. Santa Monica Mountains: From Canyons to Coast

Jack and Colton are in the largest urban national park in the U.S. experiencing a canyon's to coast adventure with mountain biking and whale watching. Then the guys hit the waves for their first surfing experience ever!

23. Best Of: Wildlife

24. Best Of: Eat, Drink, Sleep

25. Best Of: Bears

26. Best Of: Adventures