

off the fence.

JC Tha Barber

13 x 30'

EPISODIC BREAKDOWN

1. My Crazy Life

The show opens with JC introducing himself and his family. JC's girlfriend T'La is at nursing school and JC has to get his youngest daughter ready for school. Tonight is the big sports award show and JC has several clients that need his services. JC's manager has rented a suite near the awards venue so that he can get to them all. PJ Simien singer and college football star is first to arrive. PJ's haircut is quickly interrupted by the unexpected visit of reality tv star Laura Govan. Laura needs a haircut and tracked JC down via his social media. Aside from being a tv star and entrepreneur, Laura and JC have a very close relationship. They are like brother and sister. Jonathan Stewart, allpro running back of the NFL's Carolina Panthers is next in JC's chair. He talks to JC about his Super Bowl experience and his passion for real estate. Emmanuel Sanders, all-pro wide receiver of the NFL's Denver Broncos, shows up while Jonathan Stewart is still in the chair. Jonathan and Emmanuel were competitors in the 2015 Super Bowl won by the Broncos. This tension leads to some fun conversation. Emmanuel's haircut is interrupted by a phone call from T'La letting JC know that he will have to pick Londynn up from school. The timing is going to be tight, but this is JC's crazy life.

2. Young and Restless

Adidas has asked JC to come up with a new shoe design for their upcoming influencer line. The show opens with JC hard at work on a design. His oldest daughter Amaya enters and starts clowning his designs. JC has been struggling with this project and Amaya's commentary isn't helping. With his deadline approaching, JC gets a call from Nick "Swaggy P" Young. Swaggy needs a cut. JC figures that he can get some helpful tips from Swaggy since he has already designed his own shoe for Adidias. JC and Swaggy discuss the evolution of the iconic haircut that JC created for Nick also called the Swaggy P. On his way back home to finish working on his shoe design, JC gets a call from T'La letting him know that Laura Govan has, unexpectedly, shown up. Laura wants JC's opinion on her new line of accessories. JC reluctantly puts up with Laura's fashion show as his deadline quickly approaches. After Laura leaves, his work is once again interrupted, this time by his daughter Amaya. Amaya has a surprise for her dad, she designed the shoe for him.

3. Chicken Dance

The show opens with JC and Amaya dancing in Amaya's room. Amaya ends up clowning JC on his dance moves. The time for dancing is over as JC has to leave to meet his superstar NFL client Von Miller at a hotel in the ritzy Hollywood Hills. Von is the All-Pro defensive captain of the Denver Broncos and a "Dancing with the Stars" alum. Thinking that Von can help him with his dance moves, JC gets inspired to challenge Amaya to a dance battle. Von's hair just needs a little touching up and the focus of conversation turns to dancing and chickens. Von gives JC some pointers on the dance floor and wishes him luck in his battle with Amaya. Back home, JC gets a call from elite choreographer Kevin Ray. Kevin needs a quick cleanup of his goatee and it couldn't come at a better time. JC tells Kevin about the dance battle and to his surprise, Kevin decides to help Amaya out. After a quick lesson in the back yard the battle is on. With the family together in the family room, JC gets the battle going. JC hits the floor with his best moves while T'LA, Londynn and Amaya look on. The results of this dance battle are completely unexpected.

4. War of the Rose

JC has a rare day off, except for one appointment with Model/Host Amber Rose. T'La is studying for a big nursing exam and enlists JC to run a long list of errands. JC is not about to ruin his down time running errands and gets a timely call from NBA coach Dribble2Much. Dribble needs an emergency cut and JC is only happy to oblige as it gets him out of running errands. Once Dribble arrives the conversation quickly turns to the video game competition between Dribble and NBA all-star Gilbert Arenas. Dribble tells JC that their next game is for $40,000. Knowing this JC had already sent a text to Gilbert letting him know who was in his chair. Gilbert shows up, and the competition is on. The volume and tensions rise quickly during the video game competition, but JC has to go. He leaves Gilbert and Dribble to finish their game and heads over to Amber's house. Amber talks about the decision to shave her head as well as her talk show and slut walk. During the cut, Amber gets a call from T'La who is on her way over. Amber and T'La decide to have a girl's day while JC is left to run errands.

5. Back to His Roots

JC arrives at the house of longtime client, actor turned politician, Antonio Sabato Jr. During the cut they talk about politics and focus on giving back. A lot of what is said makes JC think about all the people who helped him get to where he is today. Soon after leaving Antonio, JC gets a call from French Montana's assistant requesting a cut. French Montana was JC's first celebrity client and this cut takes him all the way back to his roots. It inspires JC to go back to the Brotherhood Barbershop (where it all started) and offer a day of free cuts.

6. Anniversary Antics

JC has a planned day off to prepare and celebrate his and T'La's anniversary. That is until reality TV star, Laura Govan shows up at JC's house unannounced and wakes him up JC to give her a haircut. While in JC's chair Laura talks about her new business and her new-found independence. During the conversation, she finds out that it is T'La and JC's anniversary. She is a little hurt that she didn't know about it, but wants to help out. After the cut, she runs out and takes JC's jacket with her. JC's wallet was in that jacket and now his anniversary celebration is in jeopardy. Chasing Laura out the door, JC runs into another unexpected client, actor, Chico Benymon. JC needs to stall T'La so she doesn't find out he is working. When Chico finally leaves...T'La arrives to find JC going through a shipment of apparel from Adidas. She is not happy. Later, JC and T'La are all dressed up for their anniversary celebration. They leave the house to go to dinner only to return a couple hours later because JC forgot his wallet. T'La is visibly angry. The lost wallet turns out to be a ruse designed to hide an anniversary surprise.

7. Ballin Shot Callin

Later in the day JC has an appointment to cut the hair of Los Angeles Clippers star guard Austin Rivers. Austin has been giving JC grief about his game, so aside from the cut JC has challenged Austin to a game of one on one. But before that happens, he gets a call for a cut from Minnesota Timberwolves star Shabazz Muhammad. JC decides to use this appointment as an opportunity to get some training for his game with Austin from his man Shabazz. Shabazz runs JC through several drills, all showing how woefully out of shape JC is. Shabazz indicates that JC really has his work cut out. Later JC arrives to the Los Angeles Clippers practice facility. He sets up to cut Austin's hair in the training room. During the cut we learn of Austin's love of cars. He is obsessed. After the cut, it's time for some one on one. JC heads to the court only to be stopped and lead to a ping pong table. This is not what he was expecting. As the game winds down JC realizes he is late for an event where he is giving free cuts to military veterans. He leaves Austin as he was about to lose and heads to the charity event.

8. West Coast Summit

JC is at home working on expanding his brands when he realizes that he can only take it so far through social media. He gets a call for a cut from the king of branding and the owner of the world famous West Coast Customs, Ryan Friedlinghaus. Who better to talk about branding with than Ryan. They head up to Ryan's office where he has his own barber chair set up for JC's cuts. During the cut they discuss Branding and business building. Later for inspiration, Ryan takes JC on a tour of his facility and all the crazy cars. JC is inspired and heads to downtown L.A. to meet his partners Marv and Ramal for a photoshoot for their clothing brand Superb. JC has to get the models looking just right for the shoot.

9. We The Best

JC is headed to the airport for a meeting with a Jerky company about starting his own brand of beef jerky. On his way, he gets a call from DJ Khaled's assistant saying Khaled needs an emergency cut. Not wanting to disappoint Khaled he turns around and heads to his house. JC calls his manager and asks if he can push the meeting and the flight back. JC is met at the door by Khaled's assistant Kiko. He leads JC to the room where the cut will take place. Khaled arrives and during the cut they talk about his new album, his son, and they do some Snapchatting. JC tells Khaled he had to push a flight and a meeting for him, and Khaled says it was the best decision of his life. JC heads to the airport and his meeting with the Jerky company. Upon his return, he immediately heads over to cut the hair of the NFL's Minnesota Vikings wide receiver, Kenny Clark. While in the chair Kenny opens a bag of JC's jerky and starts eating it. By the end of the cut he has eaten several bags. As Kenny is walking JC out, he notices a duffle bag full of jerky. The race is on to see who gets to it first.

10. A Couple of Jackasses

JC is getting ready in his home studio as he waits for his client Art Mann to show up. JC is a little unsettled as he and Art are in the middle of a prank war. Art shows up and JC is noticeably jumpy. But it appears that Art has nothing in store for JC this time around. Art pulls out a sandwich and starts eating it. As it turns out, JC is in store for some serious stomach problems. While suffering from Art's prank, JC decides to call a client that specializes in pranks, Steve-O. Hoping to gain some knowledge to help him plan his revenge he sets an appointment to cut his hair. JC arrives at Steve-O's house and sets up for the cut. During the cut they talk about the legend that Steve-O is in the pranking and stunt world, how Steve-O has turned to stand-up comedy and of course help in getting revenge on Art. After giving Steve-O the best haircut ever, JC has a plan and is ready to set it in motion. Revenge is blue.

11. Ty Dolla Dare

Today JC is headed to Long beach to cut his longtime client Ty Dolla Sign. JC is always a little nervous when he goes to cut Ty. Ty has a habit of daring JC to do things that most people wouldn't do. The moment JC arrives, Ty starts asking him about his tattoos and JC starts to get an uneasy feeling about why. During the cut they discuss the process of creating music and Ty's new company. After the cut, Ty takes JC to the studio and shows him how music is made. He even samples JC's voice and puts him in a song. Before leaving, Ty dares JC to get a tattoo of his new logo. In the car on the way home JC gets a call from DJ Paul of Three 6 Mafia. He agrees to meet Paul at the studio for a cut. At the studio Paul is busy working with his new artist Weirdo and Big L.A. They talk for a bit before getting into the cut. Paul thinks the dare is funny and offers to call his tattoo artist to set it up. After the cut, JC schedules the tattoo for the next day. In the tattoo artist's chair JC facetimes Ty Dolla to show him his new tattoo.

12. Ring My Bell

JC has an appointment today to cut the hair of world champion boxer Andre Berto. The problem is that last time he cut Berto's hair, JC challenged him to a sparring match. He now realizes how stupid that was and is hoping that Berto forgets. But just in case he doesn't, JC is heading over to cut the hair of another client first. World champion wrestler John Hennigan aka Johnny Nitro aka Johnny Bravo needs a cut and hopefully can give JC some tips on how to survive a fight with Berto. JC arrives at John's house and heads to the kitchen for the cut. During the cut they discuss John's new movie and his current wrestling gigs. JC tells John that he, stupidly, challenged Berto to a sparring match and was hoping to get some pointers from him. After the cut they head to the backyard, where John has a wrestling ring. John starts to run some drills and then things take a turn for the worse when JC tells John that wrestling isn't real. He finds out how wrong he was. Later JC heads to Berto's to cut his hair hoping that he has forgotten about JC's challenge. No such luck. During the cut, Berto and JC talk about boxing and Berto's charity work in Haiti. After the cut, they head to the backyard where JC has to answer for his big mouth. JC is out for the count.

13. Celebrity Ballin

Today JC is playing in the Trevor Ariza celebrity basketball game. He finally gets a day to turn off his phone and focus on the fun and enjoyment of playing basketball for charity. As he arrives at the facility he quickly finds out that even though his phone is off, celebs are still able to find him for a cut. As he enters the locker room, BDOT asks him to line up his beard. JC reluctantly obliges. During the cut they talk about the impressions that put BDOT on the map as a basketball impersonator. After the lineup JC changes into his uniform and before he can make it to the court, NBA superstar Demar Derozan finds JC and asks for a cut. Not willing to say no, JC cuts Demar's hair on center court. During the cut, they discuss the Olympics and Demar teases JC about not being a basketball player. After the cut JC heads to the court to warm up, but the game is about to start. JC hits the court with stars including Terrell Owens, Jake Paul, Cameron Boyce, Laura Govan, Dribble2Much and more. In the middle of the game Nick Young seeks out JC for a haircut. JC tells him no and then ends up cutting Nick's friends hair instead. The game ends. JC's team wins. So much for turning off his phone and not cutting hair.